RULE-4. SOCIAL MEDIA POLICY & USAGE GUIDELINES:

The following principles apply to professional use of social media on behalf of the Company as well as personal use of social media when representing the Company:

Our social media activity creates a direct impact in the way our organisation is perceived. It is vital for our brand image that we act responsibly. Employees need to know and adhere to the Social Media policy when using social media in reference to the company, since, one may speak for themselves, but, their actions reflect those of the company.

Employees should be aware of the effect their actions may have on their personal brand, as well as, that of the company as the information that employees post or publish may be public information for a long time.

Please note the DOs applicable for the usage of social media:

- i. Subscribe to our channels and follow our posts diligently.
- ii. Share and comment on our stories, success and products.
- iii. Update your job title and place of employment on your social media channels so that you belong to our online community.
- iv. LinkedIn is a formal and professional platform, use professional photos as the display picture.
- v. If you notice anything against the brand ethos or values being posted by anyone in the organisation or outside our organisation, report it to the social media team immediately.
- vi. Utilise the platform for professional and learning purposes only.
- vii. Connect with people you know or trust. Accept requests from people you know, or who have strong professional background only.
- viii. Employees should get appropriate permission before they refer to or post images of current or former employees, members or vendors. Additionally, employees should get appropriate permission to use a third party's copyrights, copyrighted material, trademarks, service marks or other intellectual property.
- ix. If employees publish content that involves work or subjects associated with THE COMPANY, a disclaimer should be used, such as this: 'The postings on this site are my own and may not represent the company's positions, strategies or opinions.'
- x. If you want to write about the competition, make sure you behave appropriately, have the facts straight and that you have the appropriate permissions.

Please take care of the DON'Ts applicable for the usage of social media:

Subject: Code of Conduct & Discipline Rules	Original Issue Date: 29 October 2005	Effective Date: 29 April, 2024
	Revision Dates: 2 August 2017, 01 February 2022, 26 April, 2023, 29 April, 2024	Version No: 5.0

- i. Do not share your contact details or those of your colleagues to any unknown requests.
- ii. Do not share/disclose any information that may cause a risk to the organisation in any form. The company spokesperson and media teams are the only authorised people to provide the correct messages.
- iii. Do not tag our company page or Senior Management in any posts unless specifically asked to do so by the Corporate Communications team.
- iv. Check with the Corporate Communications team before sharing any organisation-related content.
- v. Do not gossip or put down any person in the organisation or outside of the organisation on any public platform. It is unprofessional and does not reflect our brand ethos.
- vi. Making unacceptable comments about competing brands can be looked down as unprofessional within and outside the organisation and can, also, have legal consequences.
- vii. Incorrect, confidential or non-public information about the company or its clients should not be shared on social media. In case you get any query which you have no understanding of / information about, ensure you redirect the information to the correct department/person.
- viii. Be careful and wise with the content you post. Never post something that could offend any gender, caste or person and that could be seen as threatening or impact the brand negatively.
- ix. Do not reply to positive comments or defend any negative comments about the organisation on behalf of the organisation. The authorised teams are adept at handling such posts.
- x. While you may believe in some cause or topic, refrain from commenting on social media since it may be perceived as the organisation's viewpoint and not the individual.
- xi. When disagreeing with others' opinions, keep it appropriate and polite. If you find yourself in a situation online that looks as if it is becoming antagonistic, do not get overly defensive and do not disengage from the conversation abruptly. Feel free to ask any HR team member for advice and/or disengage from the dialogue in a polite manner that reflects well on the company.
- xii. You are to never comment on anything related to legal matters, litigation, or any parties the company may be in litigation with.
- xiii. The company's financial status (turnover/ profits) should not be shared on social media.
